

EX LIBRIS AD MEMORIAM

QUOTE

"Whenever I go to the library I don't really speak to many people but I still get this sense of community just by being in that environment for sometime... I do feel that libraries are the communities in itself. Whenever I go to the library I don't really speak to many people but I still get this sense of community just by being in that environment for sometime... I do feel that libraries are the communities in itself."
